MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRPERSON

Our work continues.

A year ago, we established Angat Buhay Foundation as an NGO and vowed to go to marginalized communities, without choosing nor turning our backs on any Filipino who direly needs our help. It was true then and remains so as we continue implementing our programs, projects, and activities under the four advocacy pillars of Angat Buhay: Public education, nutrition and health, disaster response and rehabilitation, and community engagement and empowerment.

Today, we are proud of our collective achievements under each pillar, thanks to the collaboration of our very own Angat Bayanihan Volunteer Network—the largest volunteer network in the country. With your continued guidance and support, we are optimistic that this network will keep on growing and learning to be local implementation partners in various poverty alleviation initiatives all over the country. In further strengthening this network, we continue to bank on the trust we've built with our partners over the years, and on the bayanihan spirit that still inspires us, our volunteers, and many others to keep going and join us in our cause.

If we were able to do all these in just a year, imagine what more we could do if our collective influence were even wider and deeper within communities. After all, this is how genuine change is forged: Through silent but consistent labor. By choosing to be a part of this, we are painstakingly sowing the seeds of our dreams as a nation with the hope that someday, even the poorest Filipinos from the farthest community can reap and enjoy the rewards of our hard work.

Angat Buhay is a bridge that leads to many paths that enable Filipinos to uplift the lives of their fellow Filipinos. We are thankful for your crucial role as partners in opening these paths and in turn, may you continue to find inspiration in our volunteer organizations, groups, and partners, who show not only generosity with their time and talents, but the initiative and agency in taking action and realizing our dreams for our people.

We are both grateful and hopeful for your dedication and commitment this past year and for many more years to come. This is just the beginning and we are all excited to continue making more dreams come true for our people.

Chairperson and President

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

It's as if it was only yesterday when we started organizing Angat Buhay as a non-government organization. Motivated by our common desire to sustain all the good things we've achieved as early as the OVP days, we didn't think much of the obstacles and challenges that went with establishing an NGO in our country. Nevertheless, our collective accomplishments, shared experiences with our partner communities, and our momentum from the people's campaign trumped our hesitations and ultimately pushed us forward.

We see these in our four pillars guiding our programs, projects, and activities. The work of Angat Buhay in enhancing access to quality public education; pushing for proper nutrition and healthcare; and providing relief and rehabilitation in times of disaster went on despite the odds because you are here beside us, and you continue to believe in the spirit of bayanihan.

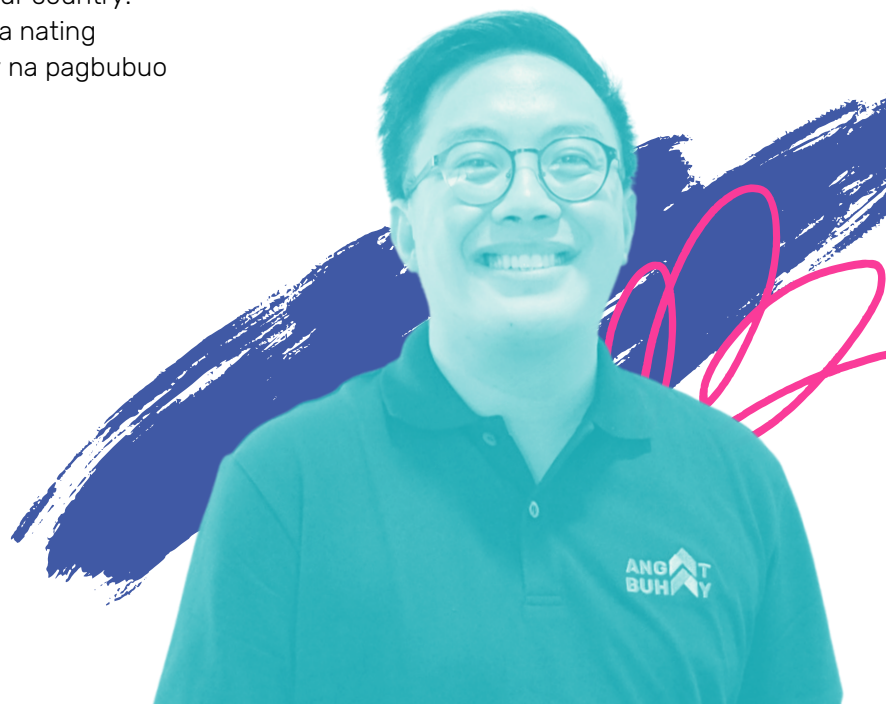

We also recognize a key milestone in our community engagement and empowerment advocacy: The establishment of the Angat Bayanihan Volunteer Network. By building the largest volunteer network in the country, Angat Buhay is also carving its own niche in the development sector in the Philippines. Aligned with our vision of a democratized space for people to participate, engage, and demand an equal share of power from the state, we are investing in civil society organizations, which will eventually take the reins in shaping the discourse within the development sector. Aside from harnessing the energies of past movements, the goal of our community engagement and empowerment pillar is to help develop and capacitate future leaders from civil society.

We are sending a message to millions of Filipinos that they are not alone in demanding meaningful participation. This message is conveyed not through empty words or lip service but through concrete programs, projects, and activities organized and implemented by volunteer organizations all over the country.

To our corporate and institutional partners who continue to keep faith in us and our shared vision for our country: maraming, maraming salamat po. Sama-sama nating patatagin ang ating samahan para sa patuloy na pagbubuo ng kwento ng pag-asa sa ating bansa.

Dios mabalos!

CLH TEACH

Technology Assisted Community Hubs (CLH TeACH) maximize a hybrid mode of instruction. Off-site tutors are accessed through technology platforms and learners are assisted face-to-face by an on-site volunteer tutor. Subjects in these sites vary from literacy and numeracy as it is based on the expertise of the curriculum partner. However, other subjects not covered by the curriculum partner may still be delivered by the hub based on the capabilities of the on-site volunteer tutors. This intervention is in partnership with Edukasyon.PH.

As of June 15, 2023, the Foundation continues to support the two CLH- TeACH Sites with 62 student beneficiaries, supported by Edukasyon.PH.

The program specifically intends to (1) raise the reading levels of the students to at least 80% of the identified nonreaders in Grade 1, (2) reinforce the role of parents and guardians in their children's learning progress through values formation and skills development, and (3) to cultivate the community's sense of shared responsibility in supporting every child's learning.

From July 2022 to June 2023, the Foundation has committed to improve the nutrition and healthcare access for the underserved communities. Recognizing the fundamental right to health and well-being, initiatives focused on improving nutrition and healthcare access for underserved communities were prioritized. Comprehensive programs to combat malnutrition and stunting, particularly among children continue to be implemented.

For this reporting period, institutional partners have contributed a total of Php750,000.00, on top of the Php5,772,443.99 funded by the Foundation. The contributions of the partners have had a profound impact on the Foundation's ability to deliver its essential services and programs, improving health and nutrition related outcomes to a total of 9,422 beneficiaries.

ANGAT BUKAS

Within the first 6 years of Angat Buhay in OVP, one learning proved that to improve the capacity of children for learning, education should be reinforced with nutrition. This was also reinforced by a World Bank report in 2019 revealing that the Philippines has become one of the countries in the East Asia and Pacific Region with highest prevalence of stunting at 30%, making it one of countries in the world with the highest number of stunted children. These findings paved for the launch of the Angat Bukas: Lusog, Galing, Sigla Convergence Program – a convergence program that ties together initiatives on education, nutrition, and poverty alleviation, as an attempt to improve poverty outcomes in the poorest areas of the country. This is a program co-developed and co-implemented with the Philippine Business for Social Progress (PBSP), Philippine Business for Education (PBEd), Negrense Volunteers for Change Foundation, and Angat Bayanihan Volunteers.

Together with Negrense Volunteers for Change Foundation, Angat Buhay leads the first phase of the convergence program with its Nutrition Component, where identified underweight/ severely underweight children who are within 6 to 59 months old are fed with Mingo meals once a day for 6 months. It is a 6-month targeted nutrition program focused on improving the nutritional status of identified underweight/ severely underweight children across Angat Bukas project sites.

From July 2022 to June 2023, the Foundation, and its partners continues to combat malnutrition by enrolling 1,214 children within 6 to 59 months old and provided them with Mingo meals for 6 months.
